respect for you and makes me feel closer to you because you've been so honest.

I mention my work on child right's because again - we could talk about it - but it would be a very different conversation we'd be having if you ever sexually touched anyone who was clearly a child. Like under 16 but more specifically anyone who was clearly a child too young to be sexually active. 2:23 AM

But it doesn't sound like that is the case to me. And, if it's not the case, you shouldn't be carrying around the guilt and burden as if you were someone as bad as that. 2:24 AM

So is that all that you feel guilty and not a saint about? Or did I skip over something? 2:25 AM

 Well, like I said, I had some homoerotic interactions with friends, etc. when I was a child, so I can't say that I've never done it, but I've never made the choice to do it when I was consciously aware of the maturity/gravity of what I was doing. 2:25 AM
 There's probably more if I dig deep enough, but I'll stop here so this doesn't get turned into a confessional. ^^; 2:27 AM

 Let me rephrase that I meant with YOU as an adult. And by that I mean over 18. Children mess around with other children all the time. That's part of normal childhood development - nor is it illegal. I don't think. But I wasn't referring to what children were doing amongst themselves. 2:27 AM
